

Discussion between two ACT B Projects

Differences:

1. Way of thinking is different

Peng's project mainly focus on the factors which influence Beijing's population

Mine focus on how to create a model

2. My project is more comprehensive past data

more representations of a function

how to get rate of change more information about the graph one justification of project

Similarities: both have graphs and influence factors

Which one is more accurate: my ACT B is more accurate